PARK 600 Appoints New Executive Chef

Boris Jovanoski Appointed to Executive Chef at Royal Park Hotel's PARK 600 Restaurant

(October 2019 - Rochester, MI -) PARK 600, a Locally Crafted restaurant located inside of the award-winning Royal Park Hotel in Rochester, MI, announces the appointment of Boris Jovanoski to Executive Chef.

Jovanoski has had a passion for the restaurant industry since he was just 14 and began working in his uncle's steakhouse. He spent his childhood traveling throughout Europe and across the US, and by the time he was 18 he was managing a local steakhouse and brewery. Jovanoski knew he needed to continue to develop his talents in the kitchen, and soon would complete the Culinary Arts program at Macomb Community College. He went on to train under five master chefs through additional programming at Schoolcraft College.

Recently appointed to Chef de Cuisine at PARK 600, Jovanoski has been instrumental in adding new flavors and locally crafted fare to the menu. As Executive Chef, Jovanoski will continue to expand PARK 600's palate.

"I am excited to take Park 600 to the next level," said Jovanoski. "I plan to introduce a variety of menus composed of bold, bright flavors that take guests on a globally-inspired journey while emphasizing our commitment to working with seasonal, local ingredients."

Jovanoski has been with PARK 600 since 2006 offering his knowledge of the local community, and global flavors to every menu. Native to Michigan, he understands the flavors that local guests are looking for, while bringing an elevated experience that world travelers come to expect.

"I look forward to becoming more of a destination for those craving a world-class dining experience wrapped up with the cool vibe of Downtown Rochester," said Jovanoski. "Dishes will include a mix of savory bites and light textures to ensure diners are exposed to a myriad of options that satisfy every palate."

PARK 600's Fall Winter Menu recently launched with a collection of seasonal flavors. The restaurant also recently debuted a revamped Brunch experience in October offering new flavors, live music and Bloody Mary and Mimosa stations throughout the weekend.
